Looking into Our Past

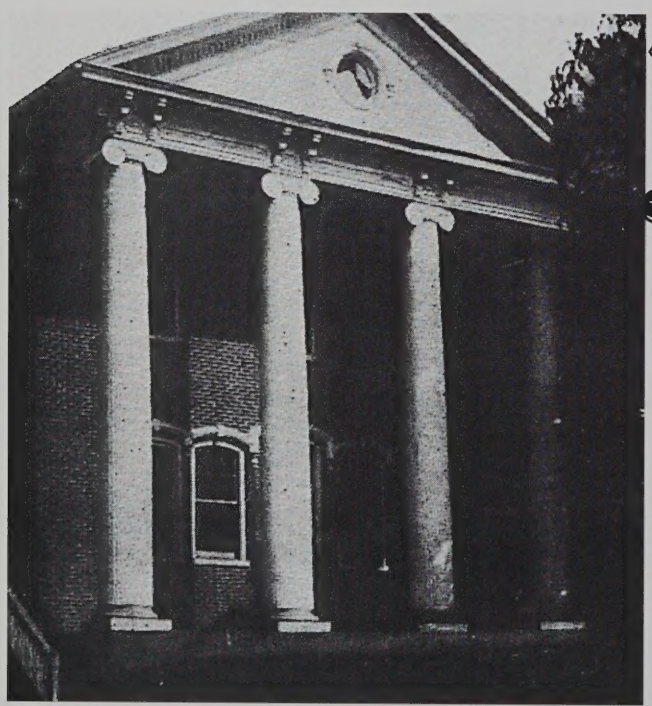

100 Years of Great Education at Luray High School

Happy 100th Birthday Luray High School!! The walls of LHS have witnessed many changes in the past 100 years. Not only has the school been relocated but the administration has also changed many times. Luray High has been known for the best teachers and has produced some of the greatest and most successful students.

Coming back from summer break to begin the 2002-2003 school year was rough for students. Most were concerned with world events and scared of the threat of more terrorist attacks like those faced by students last year. Annual events including Homecoming helped to ease our minds and build school spirit. Record snowfall made it difficult for club and sports' schedules and shortened spring break to only one day.

Keeping with tradition however, LHS thrived academically, athletically, and professionally. Principal Randy Thomas became Dr. Thomas and the future Superintendent of Page County Public Schools while Mr. David Ponn accepted the position of future principal of LHS! The Highland Yearbook Staff and LHS Syphonic Band both earned superior awards and as our school reached a milestone, indeed the year's theme became ALL EYES ON US here at Luray High School.

♦ Old School ♦

The first Luray High School was built on Court Street 100 years ago. Once the new high school was built in the 1930's, the old school was used for county offices before burning many years later. photo by: Page News & Courier

♦ New School Building ♦

The new Luray High School was built in 1931 at a cost, of $200,000. All K-12 grades attended this school for their lessons. Now, 74 years later, many students attend the school where their parents and grandparents graduated from but now only for grades 8-12. photo by: Sarah Foltz

Students View The World Through

Shaded Vision

"Live in each season as it passes: breathe the air, drink the drink, taste the fruit." -Henry David Thoreau

This is just what students did this summer. They lived in the season as it passed. A group of students were interviewed and the most common summer activity was camp with an eye opening 50% of students polled attending summer camp. Work and practice for fall sports came in next with 40%. Students also went on vacation with their families and friends. A few industrious students decided to volunteer over summer vacation. In the shade of the trees during a lunch break at work or through eyes shaded behind sunglasses, students viewed the summer as a time to escape.

High fashion is alive at Luray High School. From street wear boasting colorful logos to dressy name brands and comfortable athletic gear, students here have an eye for what is fashionable.

Top fashions for ladies included short skirts, knee high boots, sweaters, and sweater coats. A new trend flared when a new Aeropostale store opened in the Valley Mall.

Not to be outdone, the guys found their own fashion sense centering around athletics and camoflauge. The guys were also quick to become supportive fans of the Aeropostale line wearing t-shirts and sweatshirts emblazoned with the brand name.

Comfort and quality were essential elements for every wardrobe. Basic t-shirts often displayed clever phrases and colorful images proving that even the most relaxing outfit could still be worn with style.

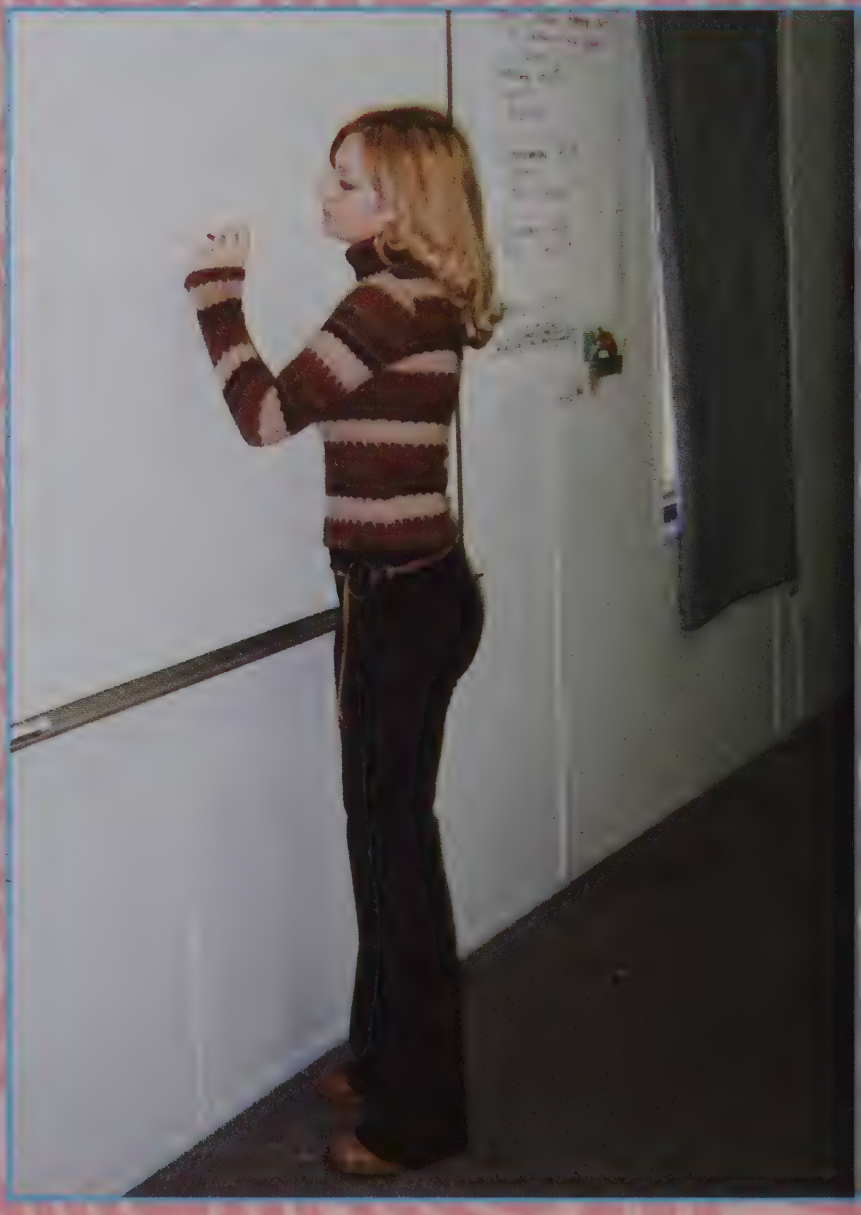

♦ Sweating in Style ♦

Eye Ball

Stars and Stripes adorn the gym and students experience Homecoming with a patriotic view

Students arrive an hour and a half early to take pictures despite the cold rain. After a quick photo shoot, those wishing to escape the unfavorable weather pack into the lobby to await the eight o' clock hour when the dance will begin.

The gym was transformed into a city skyline complemented by festive red, white, and blue table decor, glittering stars, and stripes.

Dancers pulsed to music provided by DJ Saagar Mehta including the dance's theme song "What a Wonderful World" by Louis Armstrong.

Last Look at LHS

The Class of 2003 took their final looks at Luray High School on June 6 at 6:30 pm, for they have graduated and will start living their lives in the real world. Graduation is the day where all the girls are planning how their hair will look and how much make up they can keep on their faces from crying. While majority of males in the class will be dreaming of how much graduation money they will getting or planning their night of fun. No matter what, graduation day is the day for students to realize that they have grown up and they that little kid anymore. They realize that they will now have to face the real world either going on to college, entering the work force, or for some seniors starting a family is the next step for them. No matter where the students go they will never for get those high school days.

Congratulations graduates!

I've Got Spirit!

Homecoming week a success; principal very pleased!

As Homecoming week came to a high spirited close, principal, Mr. Randy Thomas was very pleased with the spirit that students demonstrated throughout the week. At the pep rally, he proclaimed to the excited crowd, "This is the most spirited homecoming week I have seen."

Each day, students arrived wearing outrageous outfits based on the wardrobe scheme for their grade. Monday was class color day. Grades wore their respective colors which were: Seniors-black, Juniors-blue, Sophomores-green, Freshmen-red, and 8th graders-orange. Many students felt that Tuesday's pajama day should have been Monday in order to follow the relaxing weekend. 12th graders wore togas, 11th grader donned poodle skirts and other 1950's attire, 10th grade were glittering movie stars, in overalls and bandanas 9th grade dressed as farmers, and the 8th grade peaced out as hippies for class individual day. On Thursday, students and teachers dressed as athletes for favorite sport day. Homecoming week concluded with the traditional maroon and white day. Athletic teams were recognized at an exhilarating pep rally. The gym pulsed with excitement and anticipation for the football game that evening against Clarke County.

Ultimately, the Seniors won spirit week and the pep rally competition while the Juniors took the poster contest. As each grade chanted, "Beat Beat Clarke," through maroon and white faces, it became clear that as Mr. Thomas said, this Homecoming week was indeed a success!

Watch You Work it

Money, money, money is the one word running through the minds of many LHS students this year. Along with school work and social lives, students must balance full time and part time jobs, and even some volunteer work. Despite sacrificing free time with friends and family, having a job really pays off. As we grow up, we learn that parents are not going to always be there to hand out the cash. Some times finding independence through earning your own money can be really rewarding. Work can sometimes be tiring, and take away from an active social life, but students agree that the freedom and paychecks that come with a job are well worth the sacrifice. In the end, having something to work for always ends up being a great accomplishment.

I Have A Dream

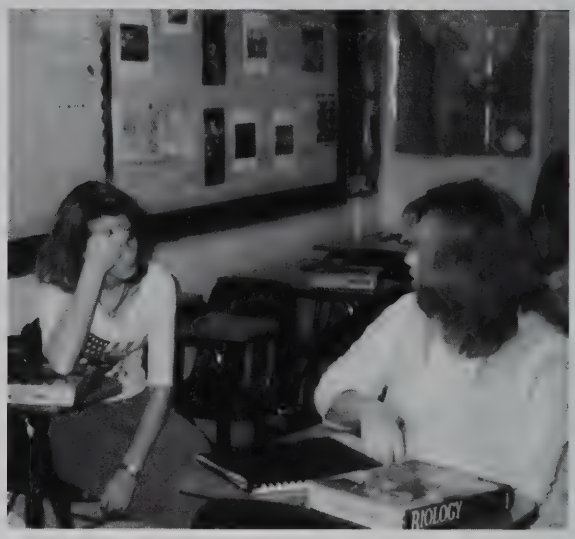

LHS students make their dreams come true...

Whether their dreams are to pass the test next period or to graduate top of their class, students at LHS have many dreams. Some of these dreams are attainable other aren't. Although it seems that many dreams don't come true, the few that do are worth while. Most students work hard to attain their dreams spending their time after school working to make money for a new car, or studying hard to pass their tests. Those students who participate in extra-curricular activites spend time after school on the field and in the classroom. One student said, "I hope there is tomorrow, next week, next year, and ten years from know." Another student commented, "I wish to be a photographer and move to Africa."

1. "My dream is to keep my 4.0 GPA and to keep all my friends." says Eighth Grader Danielle Painter. 2. "I dream to be a nurse or a vet." says freshman Chelsea Waybright. 3. "My dream is for...umm....World Peace!" says Junior Charlotte Cribb. 4. "I dream to succeed in all that I aspire towards." says Sopohmore Sara Pickerall. courtesy photo 5. "My dreams for the future include becoming a Special Ed. Teacher and helping the community." says Senior Amanda Breeden. photos by: Martha Ward

"What is love and what does it define? Who's to say and who's to draw the line? Within this world and all it's fuss, who's to say if it's love or just a simple crush?" Anonymous

Seeing Double

We all hear the same demeaning line, "It's just puppy love; you're not old enough to experience real love." The majority of students at Luray High disagree. 34% of students surveyed are dating in order to find love. 21% of the students say they are presently in love. 13% say they once fell in love, but are currently heartbroken. It isn't up to our elders to tell us what we are capable of, but are we really old enough to feel love? Do we even know what love is? The truth lies past the superficial outsides, deep within ourselves where words do no justice.

♦ Help Me! ♦

"Sometimes it is difficult to balance your relationships with the ones you love and still get everything done. Despite the hard times you may go through, if you hang on and keep the future in mind as your driving force then anything is possible."
-Ms. Jude Butler
Teacher

"Long distance relationships, especially a high school/college relationship can be really tough. But it makes the relationship stronger since it is based on trust because we dont see each other often. It also makes me appreciate my time with Kyle[Houff] more when we do get to see each other. I believe the absence makes the heart grow fonder."

An Eye For Music

"Improving the chorus under the direction of Mrs. fair and producing the spring musical."

Ashley Short
Sophomore

"The band's greatest accomplishment will come from practicing for it's superior rating for VBODA and NAL."

Laura Whittle
Senior

"We had to get up early for marching band practice to be the best."

Katie Bowles
Eighth Grade

What do you think the most challenging aspect of being part of the music department will be this year?

Through the Eyes of the Maker

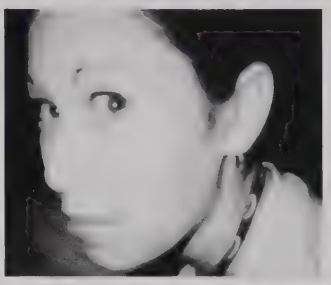

"I thought this year's signing party was spectacular! It was a lot better than last years."
Elisha Frye,
Senior

"Being on the yearbook staff can be a lot of fun," Sarah adds, "But it can also be a lot of weight on one's sholders."
Sarah Foltz, Journalism III
and Michael Hall, Journalism I

"Being on photo is a lot of fun, but it's also pretty stressful. I can't help but worry about what I'm writing because the whole school will read it."
Cassie Starke,
Journalism II

"This is my second year of photo. It's a really fun class and you learn a lot about what it takes to make the yearbook!"
Amanda Thompson,
Journalism II

♦I See a Winner♦

Judge Sandra Hodge reads the results of one of the projects. Several Luray's students won awards including best of show. There was more involvement in the fair this year which made for a worthy competetion. Photo By: Martha Ward

Watch and Learn

Students go above and beyond the classroom

"There were actually two really special aspects to this season. It was my fifth year coaching and this team was the most dedicated and pleasant I have worked with since my first year team. The second really special part of the season is both special and a little sad. Laura Whittle, our first member to play for five years is graduating and her shoes will be very hard to fill."

-Mrs. Kimberly Sampson

"The most exciting part of this years season was the excitement that came with every competition."

-Patrick Foltz
Sophomore

After school many students go home and enjoy their after noon by watching a favorite television show or attend athletic practices but some students choose to continue their studies. The members of the Academic Team spend time before school and during lunch practicing and going over things the need to work on. The members of the Science Fair spend their before and after school time answering questions with experiments and research. The members ofthe Science Fair and the Academinc Team try very hard to balance their extra curricular activities with thier school work.

The Academic Team placed third this year at Districts, beating Page twice and Central once. Also they added a new member to the Academic team family. Kimmy is a white stuffed polar bear. The team brings Kimmy along on their competetions for good luck.

Even after being rescheduled several times the Science Fair was still a success. The participation this year was far beyond that of any other year. Many students got a chance to attend the Shenandoah Regional Science Fair at JMU. Those that attended said it was a fun learning experience. Even though Luray did not place at the Regional Science Fair those who attended enjoyed the learning experience.

"The best thing about the science fair this year was the great increase in participation. It was very impressive to see all of the projects that the students entered."

-Ms. Amy Hodge

"This year's Science fair was a learning experience. It showed us what we could have done better. Hopefully we shall be able to utilize this information next year for a better project."

-Kelly Stiles
freshman

People? Places? Events?

What will we want to remember or wish that we could forget? After the homework, exams, and SOL tests are long forgotten, whatwill remain in our hearts and minds when we recall our high school years?

When I Was in School

◆ Tradition ◆

◆ Belonging ◆

Always remember

"I will always remember September 11th because that is my birthday ...it was really upsetting and my birthday seems somehow different now. I will also remember my friends because they are always there when I have problems."

-Jaimi Vaughan, Sophomore

NEVER Forget

"...the uncertainty felt from all corners of the world...we, Americans believed so highly that we were a safe country, that nothing like 9/11 could happen to us. Though, I shall also remember how united we became and how our allies wept along with us that September day."

Reda Masincup,
Sophomore

◆American Pride◆

(1) Proudly displayed on Mrs. Ann Andrews' door is an excerpt from The American Crisis by Thomas Paine. Many patriotic symbols were placed around the school for the first year anniversary of September 11th. photo by: Carrie Campbell

◆Standing Tall◆

See- noir Treats

Senior parents keep seniors full of chocolate & sweets. The parents prepared special treats to make holidays special for their seniors.

"I think it's very sweet & considerate of the parents to take the time & money to give us gifts for our senior year."

Christina Connolly
Senior

"I think it is a nice gesture and I think the seniors liked it."

Jeremy Bowen
Senior

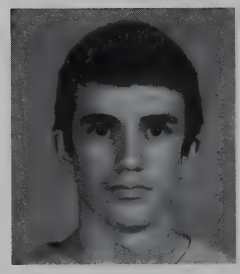

How did the treats prepared by senior parents help make your last year at LHS the best year ever?

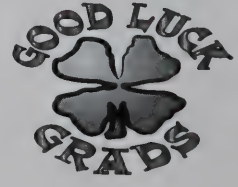

"I think it is GREAT. It really shows that your parents are doing their part and supporting you in the most important year in high school."

Kathy Butler
Senior

"It is very nice for our parents to be involved in our senior year."

Sight Set on The Future...

But still enjoying the present

"Just makes me more eager for summer break."

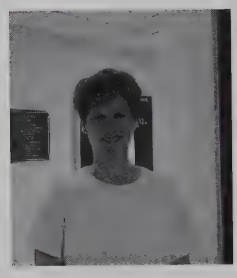

Mrs. Sue Nickels

"I lose sleep, hair, and teeth."

Mr. Jim Logan

How do the end of the year stresses affect you as a senior teacher?

"As a senior teacher you are put in a position where you are the final chance that a student has to prove that they deserve a diploma. I try not to become stressed about it but focus on the student and what they have proven to me over the last 10 months. I really try to build a relationship witht he students the entire year letting them know that I am a teacher that will work with them if needed, I am someone that they can talk to, and someone that they can trust."

Mrs. Pam Walker

"It becomes very stressful and requires the ability to juggle many tasks. It reminds me of a saying one of my favorite teachers used to say "function in disaster, finish in style" it seems the most appropriate at this time of year with seniors transitioning to new horizons."

Ms. Jude Butler

Getting out of having to go to school for a trip to Kissimmee, Florida, Being in the sunshine from morning 'til dusk, strolling around with your best friends to any park in Disney and being able to get your picture taken with your favorite Disney character... As the sun goes down, going back to a hotel to swim, or just hanging out, sounds like fun, but having to ride 18 hours on a bus, getting sunburned, and having to leave six days after the arrival doesn't sound so fun. Candace Caison and Caitlin Feeley, share their likes and dislikes about their trip to the magical place in Florida.

"My favorite part was being able to hang out with my friends at such a magical place, and also being able to take a picture with Goofy!! The worst part about the trip was having to come back home."
Candace Caison

"Despite the fact that it was extremely hot, I had so much fun experiencing such a magical place with my friends. Also, I'm so glad that I will have those special memories to carry with me."
Caitlin Feeley

♦ Senior Classes: Ecology? ♦

Not all seniors choose to take classes exclusive to their grade. Many seniors share classes with underclassmen because they enjoy the subject. Seniors, like Javier Villordo, feel that you should take classes you enjoy even if they require you to intermingle with underclassmen. photo by: Mike Ball

Senior Jeremy Bowen anxiously digs through his senior stocking in search of a sugar rush. During December, the senior class of '03 was greeted with stockings full of chocolate sweets. photo by: Michael Ball

For Senior Eyes Only

The classes seniors love to hate

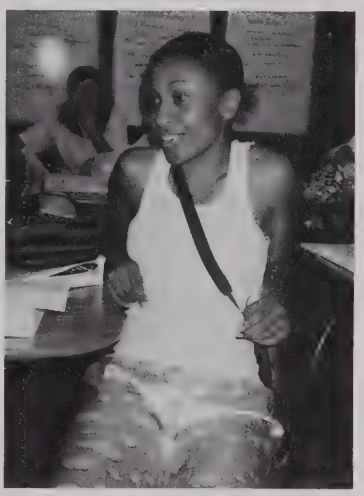

♦ English... ♦

Mrs. Nichels' first period AC English class works to understand the complex concepts of grammar. Most students decided to either take notes or listen to the lecture. However, Senior Joseph Synder can seen in the back of the classroom making faces. photo by: Michael Hall

♦ Stylin' in AP Chem ♦

♦ It is PJ Day...Right? ♦

English can be a senior's nightmare but it can also be a place for creative expression. Outfitted in her PJs Senior Elisha Frye enjoyed the freedom and comfort of home within the classroom. Little events, such as Spirit Week, helped many seniors make it through the year. photo by: Sarah Foltz

♦ Research paper Heaven? ♦

There are two things that must be completed for a senior to graduate. These last two barriers that stand between seniors and long awaited freedom are the senior project and paper. Senior Jessica Shimmer diligently completes her senior paper in the library. photo by: Ashley Turner

♦ Physics Yippie! ♦

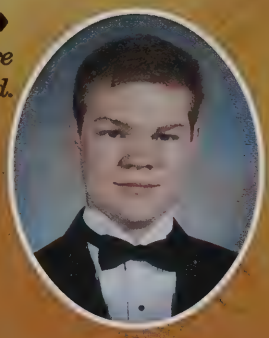

Seniors Felicia Good and Carrie Holsinger take advantage of the few minutes of conversation time they are given before class begins. Mr. Sanders kept his students busy from beginning to end. While not exclusive to seniors, there were only one or two juniors in the course. photo by: Michael hall

TOP 5 Most Stressful Situations

1) Completing senior project and research paper on time.

2) Passing all needed classes to graduate.

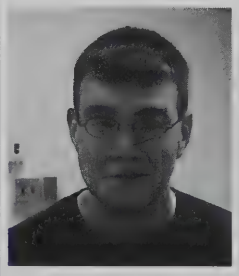

3) Choosing the right college.

4) Having enough money to pay for senior trip and announcements.

5) Being able to balance work and school and still maintain academic success.

Twitching Eyes

Seniors Experience So Much Stress Throughout the Year that Strange Behavior Could Occur...

"I go and play sports with my friends after school."

J.D. Hutchinson
Senior

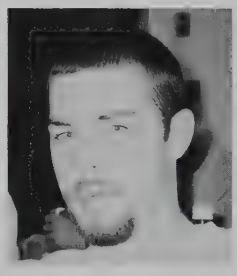

"...by jogging, watching TV, listening to music, hanging out with friends,but my all time best stress booster is to box."

Jessica Jones
Senior

How do you deal with school related stress?

"I get done what I need to do and put the rest behind me."

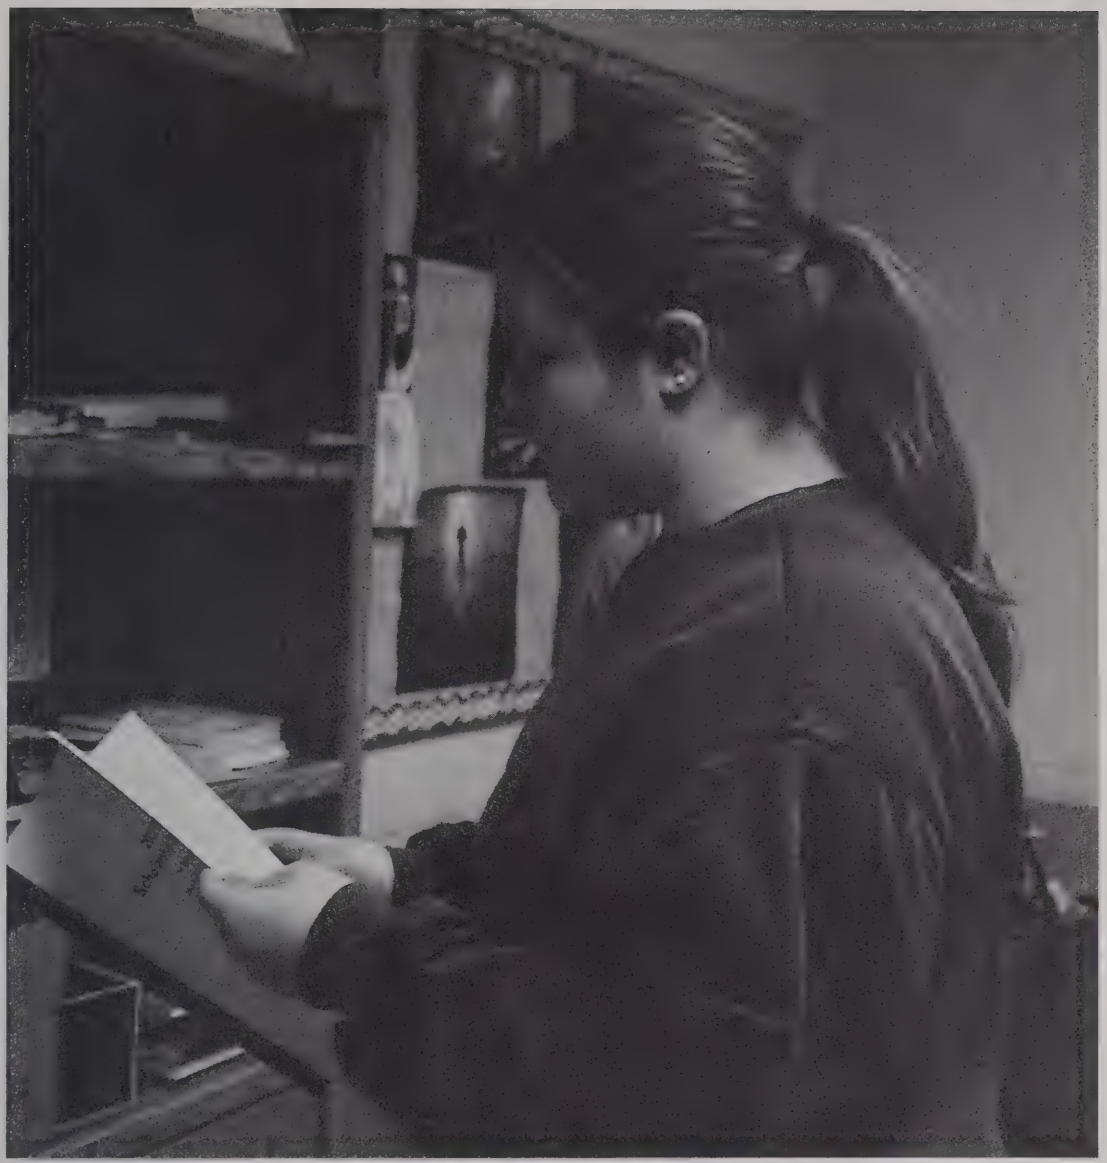

Josh Weaver
Senior

"I deal with my school related stress by going to my room and listening to my music."

"Let the word go forth from this time and place, to friend and foe alike, that the torch has been passed to a new generation of Americans - born in this century, tempered by war, disciplined by a hard and bitter peace." -John F. Kennedy

Barbara Miller

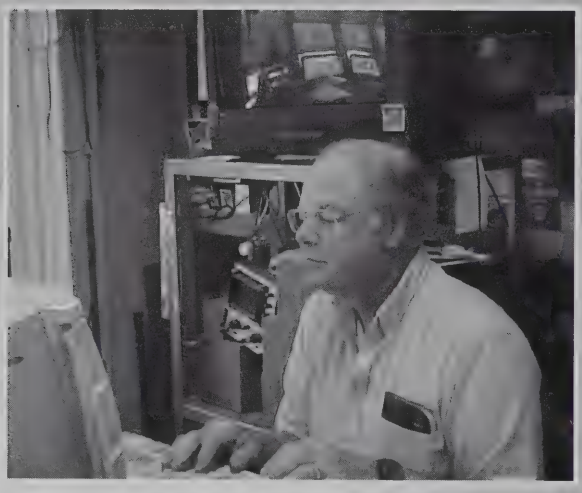

"If you plan to have children wait until after school because it's very hard trying to be in school, and pregnant, and trying to work to make money for a baby."

Mrs. Jodi Baldwin

"Always have a plan B."

Mr. Jim Ashanky

" The most valuable skill I try to impart in my students is to use the scientific method in all that they do. It is my hope that this will allow them to be productive and successful throughout their lives: In so doing, they will realize their worth, their abilities, and their potential to love both themselves and others.

Mr. Jim Sanders

"If you want to see a rainbow, you have to put up with the rain."

Mrs. Sue Nickels

"I try to teach my students to be independent thinkers, to believe in themselves, and to understand that the choices they make today will have an impact on the choices they make in the future."

Through The Eyes Of Experience

What is the most important lesson you have learned, or try to teach before graduation?

Mrs. Carrie Campbell

"Self-respect. When we respect ourselves others naturally follow our example and if they don'r then we know better than to let their insolence cause us pain."

Mrs. Jennifer Didsbury

"Think for yourself."

Thirteen years of school, eighteen years of life, school has been a major part of every student. From half-day kindergarden with nap, snack and show-and-tell, to college visits, scholorships, and early releases, graduation is just one more jump with more lessons to be learned.

Mrs. Dixie Foltz

"The most important lessons that I can teach my students involve learning independence and responsibility."

Felicia Good

"I think that by the end of high school, there are four important things you should have learned: who your true friends are, what you can and can't get away with, one person can influence and entire group, and what brings you the most happiness."

Seniors individualize their cars to display their uniqueness

"A turbocharger is an essential part of a custom car. In terms of speed, it is the best mod you can add."

Ryan Thomas
Senior

"Some Phat ... rims and tires."

Tommy Mitchell
Senior

In your opinion, what is the best part of a customized car?

"Eurotails are the best. They completely individualize a car."

Felicia Good
Senior

"A slammin' system so you can hear BOOM! from the amplifiers."

Charles King
Senior

♦ Slick IB ♦

Senior Holly Wyatt has installed eurolights in the rear of her car and put decals on the rear window and both sides of the car. She also has halogen lights and a personalized license plate. In the Blink of An Eye

One hundred years of great students and wonderful teachers accumulate at Luray High

On May 4th students, faculty, and alumni were invited to celebrate the birthday of LHS. Former Students and retired teachers came to remember their days at LHS. The open house welcomed 100 guests who gazed over old yearbooks, looked through band artifacts, and toured the school. The event concluded with a brief presentation by Dr. Randy Thomas and former principals of LHS.

♦ Always Helping Out ♦

Senoir mother Mrs. Leahe helps make punch for the refreshment table. Zach's mom also handed out buttons to members of the of Class of 2003, who acted as tour guides. photo by: Katie Burner

♦ Gathering Together ♦

Members of the class of 2003 gather with members of the community to begin a tour of the school. Seniors participated and earned extra credit in their government class. This was a great opportunity for students to come and learn the history of their school. photo by: Katie Burner

How do you feel about your school celebrating its 100th birthday?

"One hundred years is truly a milestone in the life of LHS. This insitution has had a profound effect, in a positive way, on so many lives. I am proud to be part of that heritage and glad to be part of the 100th birthday celebration."

Dr. Randy Thomas

"It is cool to think that I am graduating from the same school as my parents and grandparents."

Zack Hull
Senior

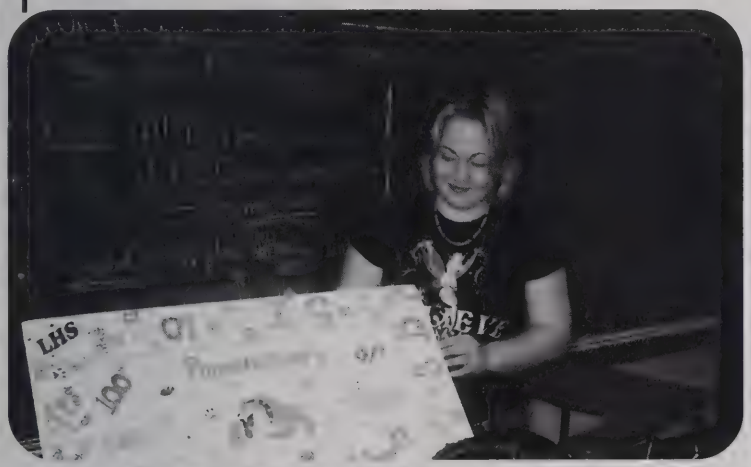

"I have experienced LHS from two perspectives- as a student and as a teacher. I am proud to be a part of an institution that has been serving Page County educational needs for so long."

Mrs. Jodi Baldwin

"It is amazing to see the broad spectrum of groups that LHS has impacted. I am very proud to be associated with an instutition that has played such a major role in the lives of so many."

Mr. David Ponn

CONGRATULATIONS GRADS

♦ Penny for Your Thoughts ♦

Seniors Richard Payton and Hudson Price, two busy guys, discuss their plans for after the school day. In order to avoid boredom, many seniors kept their daily schedules full. photo by: Holly Cubbage

What memory will stick out in your mind from your senior year?

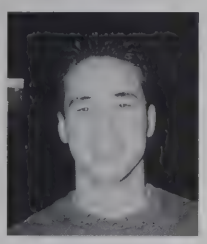

"Being voted Senior class Vice President and most likely to succeed; it means a lot that I am respected by my peers."
-Tiffany Furman

"Being late, the snack machine, and my friends."
-Amber Greer

"Sleeping and guitar playing."
-Ed Fenwick

"The moment I received my acceptance letter to the University of Virginia because UVA is the gateway to a successful future."
-Jeff Yates

"I am Batman."
-Jonathan Packard

♦ Who turned out the lights? ♦
Senior Daniel George pauses to collect his thoughts. By the end of the year, finding a moment of relief from school work was what the seniors wanted most. photo by: Holly Cubbage

♦ Girl Talk ♦

Balancing Act

Any junior will tell you that some college stress can already be felt. Most juniors spend extra time studying or participating in sports and clubs. "I have to focus on taking SATs and making good grades for college" said junior Paul Rutt. Like Paul, many of his classmates feel like college is right around the corner and all have to balance school, sports, and college worries.

Ready for wheels?

Reaching the age of 16 is a major turning point in a student's high school career. For teenagers, the wait however seems to last forever. But, for the class of 2005 the wait ends up even longer. With the the new Virginia State laws, 10th grade students must wait until they are 16 and 6 months to get their Driver's licenses. So, for now, many sophomores must continue to find another way to get around.

Moving on up

CLASS OF 2006

The freshmen finally feel like high school students. For some, not having a middle school makes the trip to high school even harder. But, easing the transiton, the freshmen are not required to go to the gym every moring and they may now walk around the halls before first period. Having more electives gives them the freedom of choice, which is what high school is all about.

CLASS OF 2007

Crossing the line

♦ Which Book Do I Need? ♦

The Class of 2007 has finally crossed the line from elemartary to high school. The 8th graders started high school with a blast. Many say that high school is pretty much the same as elemartary school. However, others say it's a world of difference. When asked what the hardest thing to get use to was, the class said lockers, changing classes, and going to the gym every moring.

Terribly Terrific Teacher's Talents

Mr. Robert Burke entertains his students daily with a wide range of voices, including French and Italian accents, as well as impressions, such as Mickey Mouse. Mr. James Ashanky has a wide variety of talents. He is a skier and motercyclist, a SeaDoo, and bycicle rider. In his lesiure time he practices photography. Have you ever wanted a donkey? Or cats? Or chickens? Or dogs? Or cows? Mrs. Jodi Baldwin raises these animals and more at her small farm.

Just In Case You Were Wondering-

If you're a student, you've probably had to look a teacher in the eyes and insist that you did so do that homework assignment. Of course, you probably didn't do the assignment, and you probably didn't notice their eye color (seeing as their eyes were narrowed questioningly at you)_so just in case you are curious we ran a survey asking our teachers exactly what color their eyes are. Of course, our results were innacurate, seeing as Mr

Jim Logan's eyes are red-rimmed in the mornings and Mrs. Samantha Hamilton never wears her reading glasses_but anyway the survey brought suprising results. Of all the teachers surveyed, a suprising twenty-eight had blue eyes of various shades. An equal number of teachers had brown eyes, one teacher had light-brown eyes, three had dark-brown eyes and three had an even shade of brown. Seven teachers had green eyes and three had hazel eyes with mixes of green and grey color. That concludes the teacher survey_just in case you were wondering.

See the Scenes

Musicals have returned to the High School for the second year running with The Music Man.

Once again the Luray High School Music Department put on a spactacular musical. This year they performed Meredith Willson's The Music Man. The muscial required about 10 more actors and actreeses then last years and a lot more time. The students who perticapated in the Musical spent a lot of their after school time working on the play. Even those with small parts had to work hard. Many worked on their homework during breaks and inbetween scenes. Several parents and volu9nteers stayed for practice and helped students memorize their lines, make props, run erands, and even grab them some pizza. Many students where evolved in other activites like band, chours, sports, and even yearbook, so their days had to be carefully organized. Even though their was a lot of hard work involved with the makeing and producing of the musical many students said they could not wait for next year.

Loved ones depart to defend freedom, families wait and hope, and bravery spans the distance.

Visible Courage

On March 18, 2003, President George W. Bush addressed our Nation and Iraq's Saddam Hussein demanding that he flee Iraq or face the consequence of invasion by U.S. forces. When Hussein had not pulled out of Iraq by the deadline set by President Bush, Air raid sirens announced the presence of American and British troops in Iraq. Citing the positioning of troops and military equipment in civilian areas by Hussein as "a final atrocity against his people," the U.S. invaded Iraq and thus began Operation Iraqi Freedom.

For forty-three days Americans witnessed the graphic reality of life at war. Television stations ran continuous coverage and flashed horrific live images from the front lines. For many, especially following the recent September 11th attacks on the U.S., the images were much too intense. Concentrating on school work and daily routines became an escape for some and an unwelcome distraction for others. For some LHS staff and students, the war became much too threatening when friends and family were called to serve in various branches of the military. Despite the quick success of American and British troops to liberate Iraq, many service men and women remained in the Middle East to maintain peace and help rebuild the devastated country. As the yellow ribbons throughout our community suggest, we will not celebrate victory until each American citizen has returned home safely.

Keep Your Eye on the Green Mile

Individual triumphs outweigh the disappointment of a losing season for both the golf and cross country teams. After winless seasons, many team member still found pride in their individual achievements.

Senior golfer Hudson Price was invited to play in the Region B Tournament. "This season I placed in the top six as an individual at the District Tournament. That qualified me for the Regional Tournanment. That is a game where practice pays off. I practiced almost seven days a week. At the Regional Tournament I shot the worst round I had shot all year! The nervousness caught up with me. (But) I really improved this year because of the time and effort I put into the game."

Senior cross croutry runner Zach Leake stated "Even though we didn't win any meets this year I still think we all did well and we all improved our scores." Just like Hudson, the cross country team believes that practice pays off. They practiced almost 5 days a week.

In the end, the two team may have had a losing season but members agree that personal successes made the year and all of the preparation worth while.

See Dogs Score

in a challenging season

With three seniors and two sophomores on the bench due to injuries, the Varsity girl's basketball team got off to a slow beginning. "The hardest part of being injured was having to sit through practices and two games and not be able to participate or help my team...it definitely affected my game but maybe not the team itself," commented Sophomore Jessica Deal.

Nervousness was also a contributing factor to a less than perfect season. Assistant principal Dave Ponn explained, "they try so hard to do so well which causes them to become nervous."

Opposing teams posessed a major height advantage over a team with an average height of 5'5. Still, at 5'4, Junior Eva Nicol earned District honors as top rebounder.

Quickness proved advantageous for Sophomore ball handler Rebecca Thompson who averaged 11 1/2 points per game and became the top scorer with 264 season points. Senior Amy Henry completed the year with 34 three point successes. Such personal accomplishments suggest that this season was not entirely unsuccessful.

Eyes on Next Year

A Character Building Season

The 2002 LHS football season was proof that last year's senior football players will be missed, and that more than anything, playing football requires heart.

The season began with the Varsity Bulldogs steamrolling over two teams at their scrimmages, including a double-A school.

Unfortunately, the same problems that plagued the 2001 football season were evident this year as well. There were only five seniors on the Varsity Team at the start of the season, with half of the players fresh from JV.

Injuries as well took a toll on the Bulldogs, with several players out for most of the season and at least three valuable players injured at any given time.

But with a large crop of the before-mentioned freshman rising next year, the 2003 season promises to be a better one.

The little dogs learn the basics

There is much more to be learned than the three R's. The seventh and eighth grade basketball teams are learning the basics of high school basketball. The seventh graders recieved their first taste of high school competition this year, while several eighth graders bounced back after a challenging season last year.

"We improved most on defense. However, I was very impressed with our team unity. The guys seemed to work well together," commented Coach Nolan Jefferies. The boys won ten of thirteen games. They were supposed to play fourteen games, but due to snow, the last game was cancelled.

"Ball handling skills are typically lacking with most young players. They need work to feel comfortable with the ball," said girl's coach Jim Logan. The girls came out on top with a 10-4 season.

Volleyball teams show dedication and spirit on and off the court

Beginning a new season with two new coaches is not always easy. It takes time to bond and to adjust to new leaders. This year, Andi Malbone became the Junior Varsity coach and the Varsity coaching position was filled by Ashley Woolfolk. Players on both the JV and Varsity teams said that the change was different at first, but after a while the teams bonded and were like the players' second families.

Despite the teamwork and organization, the teams' efforts were not quite enough to help them battle it out on the court. Varsity ended with a 7 to 13 season. Meanwhile, the JV finished their season winning 8 of 19 games. The Varsity's efforts were enough to get them a bid in District playoffs against Riverheads. However, even with outstanding attempts, they were defeated 0-2.

Keeping Regionals in Sight...

As tryouts wer completed, little did the Varsity team know that they would eventually become the 2002-2003 District champions.

The season was completed with only one loss in the District. After defeating Buffalo Gap on senior night, Varsity players cut down the nets in celebration of winning the District title. The team advanced to Regionals with a 20-3 record. They first faced Clarke County and defeated them to move on to the second round. Alta Vista, the number one team in the state, was their next rival. The Bulldogs fought hard but came up short 56-41.

Altogether the season was a success with coach Jim Sanders being named District Coach of the Year; Maurice Frye was named to the First Team All District, the District Player of the Year and First Team All Region. Mitch Houff was also named to the First Team All District and Second Team All Region and Jacque Washington was added to the Second team All District. Coach Sanders said of the team, "The 2002-2003 Luray Basketball season has produced great expectations for next year. Members of the team will need to improve their strength and quickness in order to achieve these goals. 'Hard work' is the not-to-secret KEY to the success of Luray Bulldogs basketball."

The JV team finished with a 13-8 record. Coach Travis Osborne commented that, "Our season was successful but not satisfying." Look for new improvments in the next years. Keep your eyes on Luray Bulldog basketball!

♦Dunk It Baby!♦

Maurice "Bubba" Frye dunks the ball during the Holiday tournament. Maurice was named to the first team All District, District Player of the Year, and first team All Region. Coach Jim Sanders says, "Maurice distinguished himself as the Shenandoah District Player of the Year throughout the season. He led the team in scoring and rebounding, and was one of the leaders in assists. His ability to play inside and outside allowed him to be recognized as a first team Region B player." photo by: Page News & Courier

LHS Cheerleaders Say It's All Work and No Play...

Think cheerleading isn't a sport....

The cheerleaders prepare for practice by stretching, running, doing push-ups, and crunches. After that they get hard at work to prepare for boys and girls basketball and football games.

Competition is held in February following two all ready completed seasons. The cheerleaders have practice six days a week including 3 hour practices on Saturdays. When it comes to training the boys competition time is limited.

This means practices are all work and no play.

♦ Practice pays off ♦

Rising Students Make For a Greatly Improved Season

From flying discs to flying over hurdles. From sprinting the 100 meter dash to running the 2 mile. This years track team has a lot of talent. Several athletes returned from last year but there where also several new athletes. The girls track team had two new coaches this year, Coach Sturm and Coach Malibone. The boys coaches both returned. There where a few conflicts with the coachs but over all it turned out really good. This years track team sent Elisha Frye and Rachel Warner to the State Track Meet at UVA. The track team did very well this year and hopefully all the althletes will return.

The JV and Varsity softball teams found that there is no "I" in the word "team". Both teams had to pull together to overcome hard seasons. With only one pitcher, the Varsity softball team played a difficult season. Senoir Amy Henry pitched 180 innings and struck out over 90 batters. Amy received Honorable Mention as did Junior center fielder Kelly Baggarly. The only Luray softball player named Second Team District was senior Carrie Holsinger. The girls played two District tournement games, winning the first againt rival Page County but losing to Wilson ending the 2003 season.

Alternative sports flourished this year at Luray High School despite bad weather. During the winter, many students went skiing and snowboarding at Massanutten while others chose to go sledding and snowtubing down the big hill in front of the Mimslyn. After all of the snow melted that kept students homebound practically all winter, everyone was ready to get outside and have some fun in the sun.

When spring rolled around, skateboarding and hacky-sacking abounded showing that baseball, softball, and track weren't the only ways to enjoy the nice weather.

At the beginning of the school year, club officers and sponsers planned activities and set goals for the year. Unfortunately, the snowy winter made it difficult for many clubs to meet all of their goals. Clubs were originally scheduled to meet once monthly. However, as the weather refused to cooperate, the administration was forced to cancel several meetings.

*This is not to suggest that the clubs of LHS agreed to sit idle all year however. The SCA sponsored the eighth grade, Homecoming, and "free to all" dances. NHS held its annual blood drive, a walk-a-thon and bake sale. FFA members attended workshops and competitions, a banquet, and the Luray Christmas Parade, and held fundraisers. FBLA attended a competition and sent several students to the National competition. FCCLA sponsored Preemie Week and the Angel Tree. Interact planned a school clean up. Highland organized fundraisers and donated money and goods to several staff and students who were sick or had lost their homes. Art helped decorate for prom, submitted art for the community youth art show, and helped decorate Wal*Mart for Christmas.*

Far Sighted

The SCA focuses on plans for next year

This year bad weather posed a barrier to the plans set by the SCA. Besides missing a club meeting, the club members were unable to host the annual Field Day activities. Because of the excessive snow, SOL testing was pushed back to the end of May, therefore leading to the cancellation of Field Day.

However, the SCA members did not give up hope. They began planning next year's activities. Some of their plans include organizing another car wash, reintroducing a school store, creating posters of the end of the year slideshow, and a Beacher clean-up. Planting flowers at school and giving teachers flowers on Valentine's day are also included in next year's planned activities.

Despite of all the snow, the club was successful in carrying out several activities. They donated seventy-five dollars to needy kids and decorated Mont Vue Nursing Home for Christmas. SCA also held another successful car wash as planned and hosted another successful and profitable homecoming week and dance.

I wanted to join [SCH] because I wanted to help out with the dances. I like being creative and using my skills to help the younger grades to have fun and school is not just about education but also fun!

Iesha Williams
Junior

What made me want to join the SCH was the feeling of unity and a team setting. Also, I wanted to voice my opinion in my school. I thought I represented and shared the ideas that many of my fellow classmates did. I also wanted to help out my school.

Mikey Jenkins
Sophomore

I wanted to join the SCH because I'm involved in other out of school leadership groups. I think student leadership is a great experience for us because it teaches leadership and many other important skills that you will need later on in life. I think that in the long run, the skills I have learned will help me become a better person as well as a leader. SCH is also very fun, whether it be talking to friends in meetings or the SCH car wash, we always have fun.

Kathleen Bauserman
Sophomore

There were several reasons that I wanted to join the SCH. The first was that I felt that as a student, I needed to help my school in every way. The second was because I like to inform my peers of news. The third is that I have more privileges as a student. All in all, I enjoyed participating in the SCH.

Ojos a el Horizonte

Since so much emphasis is put on getting into a good college, what could look better on a college application than being a member of New Horizons or our school's only foreign language club, Spanish? Spanish club hosted a canned food drive for Page One in December. Each can of food donated by a student earned that student one point extra credit. In celebration of Black History month, New Horizons attendend a presentation at Page County High School. Dylan Pritchett, a professional story teller, taught club members about African culture and told traditional African tales.

An Eye on Business and on Success

These clubs are perfect for the prospective managers and CEOs of LHS.

FBLA and Interact

At the very least, both the FBLA and Interact Club have had exciting years. Interact assisted members with community service projects throughout the year. Members were required to perform many hours of community service, a project most students underlook with enthusiasm. The FBLA sent three members to both state and national competitions, which were scheduled for June.

What did you enjoy most this year about being an FFA member ?

The best thing about the ffA this year was all of the advantages that we had. We traveled, and learned a lot of tips about being successful. I liked to put together the scrapbook and my job as Historian.

-Jordan Dinges
8th Grade

The funnest things about ffA this year were the many contests we went to. We went to the Sate fair, National Convention, and Block and Bridal. I was also the junior Vice Presdent.

-Joseph Walker
8th Grader

What I like about being an ffA member is helping the community and going on the trips like the Pennsylania Farm Show.

-Daniel Baker
freshmen

I enjoyed being with my friends and having a good time at the Christmas parade.

-Ryan Gaunt
Senior

I enjoyed going to competitions and traveling to different places. I also enjoyed having the awesome advisors. They are so cool to be around because they are nice and willing to help. the other members are very funny and hard working. I enjoy being an ffA member at Luray High School because I can actually say I accomplished something.

Visible Expression

Making a Difference through Art and Religon

Whether you're making a difference through colors and pictures or through beliefs and attitude, each makes the school a better place. The Art club litters the hallways with beautiful paintings and drawings that express club members' thoughts and opinions. FCA members demonstrate good sportsmanship and good values in all the sports they play. The club members try their hardest to do their best in sports while keeping a good attitude. Members of FCA excercise good morals in every game and competition. Art and FCA club members value discipline and friendship.

"It gave me the freedom to express myself through my artwork. Not to mention it's a fun club."
-Jessica Foltz, Sophomore

"The reason why I joined FCA, was because of the wonderful fellowship that occurs in the club. It's a great place to go and have fellowship with your fellow classmates and teammates. It's also a really fun and interesting club."
-Bethany Duncan, Sophomore

These Eyes Have Seen it all

While Luray High School has been in function for 100 years, there are many businesses in town that have been here for equally as long. Luray Cavern and Fairview Grocery have stood the test of time to make Luray the town that it is today. The Caverns has employed hundreds Luray High students and an abundance of alumni. Fairview Grocery is a family owned business that has been open since 1907, serving the citizens of Luray for almost a century.

♦What a find♦
Luray Caverns was first discovered by Andrew Campbell and Benton P. Stebbins in August of 1878. The Caverns has been the largest tourist attraction in Luray since it opened. Most of the towns revenue comes from the cave. The Caverns has employed Luray High students as well as citizens of Page County for almost a century. The Luray Caverns is a truely remarkable underworld filled with beautiful stalactite and stalagmite ornamentation. photo by: Emily Campbell

♦ A long Road To Success ♦

Discover Virginia's Largest Hidden Treasure

Deep beneath Virginia's Blue Ridge Mountains, Luray Caverns is the largest and most popular caverns in Eastern America. Three well lighted paved walkways, explore rooms with ceilings 30 stories high, filled with glistening stalactites and crystal clear pools. And experience the haunting sounds of the world's only Stalacpipe Organ.

Situated just 10 minutes from the central entrance to Shenandoah National Park and scenic Skyline Drive, 75 minutes from I-81 and 90 minutes from Washington D.C. For more information, contact P.O. Box 748, Luray, VA 22835 (540) 743-6551, www.luraycaverns.com

Congratulations Laura Becky; Keep Smiling! Love, All Of Us

Jessica April Palazzolo

You couldn't wait to wear a cap and gown when you were 3. The years have gone by and now you will wear the real thing in 2003. You have grown into a lovely young woman and we are proud of you and all that you have accomplished. Good luck with your future; we know that you will succeed in all that you do.
Love,
Dad, Mom, and Heather
Congratulations!

Pages To Note

Last Glance

As we look out into the world we see wide open spaces and eyes looking back at us. The future is now within our reach. "All Eyes on Us" proved to be an accurate title for this year at Luray High School. As our school turned one hundred, friends of LHS watched ever closely as many milestones were reached in this anniversary year.

Students involved in the various activities offered at LHS found great support from community members, parents, and friends who attended their concerts, fundreaisers, and sporting events

As the year windes to an end we are able to take one last glance and see that in this specispspecial year, there are "All eyes on us".

The 10th grade Academic students were able to go to the Blackfriar Theater in Staunton to watch the play, Julius Caesar . Because the School for the Deaf and the Blind attended the performance, the play was interpreted in sign language. photo by: Renee Good for the cover of this year's yearbook, "All Eyes on Us", Cassie Starke, a member of the Highland staff modeled her eyes for the cover. Mrs. Carrie Campbell painted Cassie's face maroon and white to serve as the background for the photomosaic. photo by: Emily Campbell

a fan's faint humming
resonating relief

Character Sketch–Disenfranchised

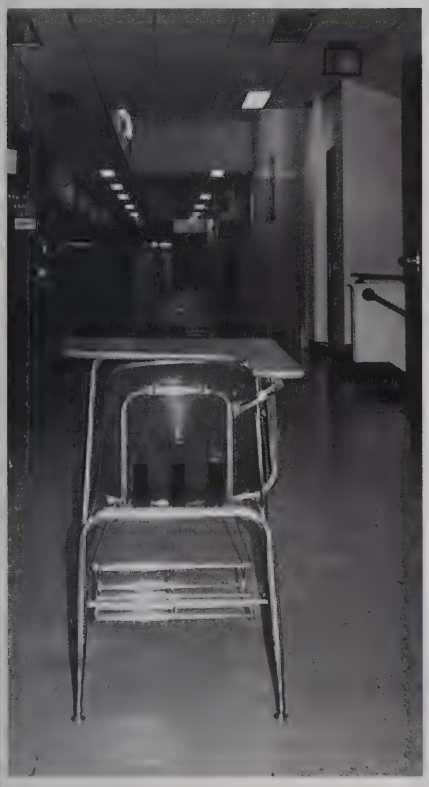

by Holly Cubbage

Claire was riding in an empty subway car. She didn't know where she was going—not like she cared anyway—as long as she was leaving. The tattered subway seats had seen better days. The once jet-black faux-leather seat covers were now slightly grayed and polka-dotted with duct tape patches. The windows were finger-printed and dirty, and the surrounding walls were graffitied with obscenities printed in cramped, messy handwriting. Wads of gum wrappers were carelessly stuffed into the crevices of the seats.

The End

by Jessica Jones

so long
to reach this place,
yet the End comes quickly.

The days are slow,
but we can't believe
they're over.
Weeks pass in what seems like centuries, while failing to hold the years.
The End is near—
what I've waited for.
So why do I shrink
back:
Each night I go back in my dreams,
when the End was so far—
I yearned for it to strike—lightening.

But
life goes on, and we?
Powerless to make time stand still.
For a decade and some odd years,
I've cursed this place.
Now my cheeks itch,
tears running down...
the End is near.

Character Sketch–Loss

by Michael Hall

I had known Thomas all my life. Give me a photo of Thomas from any age, and I could identify him without hesitation. But...this figure lying before me. There must have been a mistake. Maybe the charts switched, or something. Then I spotted that stupid necklace he always

Doorman

by Michael Hall

Doorman, I leave my worries here
To do with what you please.
Pass them onto others like me
Or, whisk them out to sea.
Doorman, take these burdens from me.
I've held onto them too long.
Receive me on world's dance floor anew—
So, Doorman, take these burdens from me and before I choose to dance again,
I promise to take a bow once more
To my dear old friend—
ill-fate.

Prose Poem

by Laura Whittle

An afghan of snow cocoons the sleeping houses. Silently and softly sliding, the snow slips between the fingers of tree branches. A chandelier of stars steps from behind gray clouds like a ballerina dancing across a stage.

I hear the crunch of snow beneath my boots and taste the icy moistness of freshness on my lips and tongue. I am dazzled by glittery diamonds suspended like teardrops—motionless in the air. A frigid breeze blasts in my ear, causing an aching pain to overtake me. I drudge into warmth, leaving behind a frozen paradise.

The Car Accident

by Tabatha Lucas

stillness
of a crowded highway
cars colliding
Screeching brakes
pressed furiously
Piercing yells
Slow cracking
Shattering windows
Silence
Bum...Bum...Bum...heart slowly beating
Roaring absurdity
sirens blaring
Beep...Beep...Beep...the heart monitor
Petrifying
the sheet is pulled over
Clank...Clank...Clank...the shovel scraping the rocks
Clump...Clump...body buried
Silence
mourning

College Home

by Laura Whittle

Doors propped by overflowing
mountains of trash,
Dishes caked with food, lumped haphazardly
about a miniscule kitchen,
Smells, reminiscent of cat food, seeping
from a refrigerator,
Bland walls smudged black by shoes thrown in anger
enclose a pigsty with a TV.
Tangy odor collages of cologne, deodorant, and sweat outside three bedrooms.
Bathroom walls, sink, and showers,
gritty with filth and grime,
Hazardous to all, but Home to six college men.

Character Sketch-Alien-ated

by Lindsay Housden

The fresh-ground coffee settled into the air. The rays of piercing morning sunlight danced in the kitchen, and the birds were giddy with song. She sat at the kitchen table in her robe with her hands hugging a mug of steaming coffee. She wasn't yet drinking it—just closing her eyes and breathing in the steam.

IT

by Lindsay Housden

IT covered the walls.
IT surrounded the house.
IT seeped through aged cracks in wooden stairs.
IT settled in with dust on picture frames.
We all breathed IT in and out...and in and out.
IT was all we had.

"All Eyes on Us" is the theme for the 2002-2003 Luray High School Yearbook. Eyes are heavy upon the yearbook staff and the students and faulty at Luray High School as LHS is celebrating its 100th birthday this year.

All pages were edited and sent to Josten's Printing and Publishing, who printed Highland Volume 60 in Winston Salem, NC 27103-6709.

This year's theme "All Eyes on Us" was created by the entire staff. The cover was designed by the staff. Cassie Starke's image was used for the cover. Katie Burner and Matt Watterson designed folio tabs and the endsheets were also drawn by Matt Watterson. Primary editing was done by Katie Burner, Sarah Foltz, and Carrie Campbell.

All 76 spreads were completed using Josten's 2003 Year Tech software and the computer program Adobe PageMaker 6.5. Several spread templates were designed by staff members. All copy was written by Journalism I, II, III students and printed in a variety of fonts. The body copy was printed in Good Mood 12 point, captions in Regal 7 point, and headlines were printed in High Goal 36 point.

The Reverie was also reintroduced into the yearbook this year. The creative writing class was given 2 spreads at the conclusion of the book to submit their writings. This gave the 60th edition of the Highland a grand total of 156 pages.

LHS is a member of the Virginia High School League. The Highland will be submitted for evaluation, and entered into the American Scholastic Press Association Review.

The Highland Staff would like to thank Laura Migdal, our Josten's representative for helping us with various questions and problems, Vern Tilley for taking school, club, prom, homecoming, and graduation pictures, The Page News and Courier for providing pictures, Alesia Painter and Anita Tutt for making copies, letting us use the PA and telephone, the Athletic Department for furnishing team rosters and records, and Jim Logan for handing out endless surveys to seniors in his government classes.
